

EES March:

I've seen that my job really requires me to learn and specialise in certain technologies, tech that I am not familiar with before. That means that I did actually require having a good grasp of technology as well as having the adaptability to apply what I already know in new situations involving new devices. Additionally, I do work with my team a lot, often visiting clients as a group and never alone. We had to work together to provide solutions to clients, as well as executing on plans and fixing problems.
